Anthony Trevor, PhD Professor Emeritus of Pharmacology and Toxicology, Department of Cellular & Molecular Pharmacology, University of California, San Francisco. Bertram G. Katzung, MD, PhD Professor Emeritus Department of Cellular and Molecular Pharmacology, University of California, San Francisco. Marieke Kruidering, PhD Associate Professor, Cellular Molecular Pharmacy, University of California, San Francisco.

For medical students, this book is significantly better than its counterpart, "Big Katzung." This version is more succinct and focuses on the clinically important concepts and drugs. The review questions are also great for assessing knowledge. There are occasionally subjects covered in "Big" Katzung that don't translate to the small version, so keep that in mind, but generally these are low yield. Overall, a better purchase than the big version for most pharmacology needs.

Good questions, but review is not quite as comprehensive as compared to LIR Pharmacology. If you don't have the time for Katzung's Basic and Clinical Pharmacology, LIR is a better bet. I wish that they had simply added the questions to the Basic and Clinical Pharmacology so I wouldn't have to buy this book for them and put out slightly more comprehensive review version with the same questions for those that are time-strapped.

This book is easy to understand. Very simple & clear explanations.

AMAZING ! & also is a great help other than the professor.

Just what the doctor ordered

I learned more pharm from this book than I did from any professor.

As a medical student I don't have time to read the full length book. I actually use this. And the questions in the back of the chapter are great with good explanations.

Worth your investment! This book is perfect for summing up pharm and is better than other pharm medical textbooks.
