Joel Gerson has been called the "Master of Skin Care Education" because he is a firm believer in education; as a teacher of skin care, facial treatments, and makeup, he has developed a number of educational audio-visual teaching aids. Mr. Gerson also travels extensively throughout the United States, Europe, and the Far East presenting educational seminars and lectures. He has served as a consultant for a number of major manufacturers working on product development for the industry, and his educational concepts have been presented at major cosmetology shows. Mr. Gerson's professional credits include: Resident makeup artist for The House of Revlon, NY, Spokesman for Lever Brothers, NY, Vice President of Education for Christine Valmy, Inc., NY, Technical Director for the International School for Estheticians and Makeup Specialists, NY. Mr. Gerson is a licensed cosmetologist and holds a teaching license for Esthetics, Scientific Facial Treatments, and Makeup from the University of the State of New York.

I passed my state board thanks to this book and my amazing school here in Los Angeles.

I didn't realize it was copyrighted in the '90s, but the information is still valid. It's a fun addition to my educational library!

Excellent reference. Older edition textbook. I'm not a student, but I learned so much for my own skin.

Didn't realize the book copyright is 1990

Purchased the textbook used by our local college to get the inside track on skin & skin care. It was easy to read and well worth it.

Great textbook.

Item as described, thank you!

With all of the Internet advice available. I decided to buy a cosmetology book that is used by students/professionals. As a general guide this book has been helpful in disseminating through all of the online articles/forums regarding skincare.
